

I am a member of associations, and I have worked for associations.
I am opposed to the change in fax regulations. I WANT my associations to be able to send me information by fax, and this new regulation makes their ability to do that uncertain. I feel that my membership qualifies as an "established business relationship," and I would like to see that retained. I feel that my membership relationship should serve as prior consent to active communication.

Please do not make this unfavorable change to the law in a way that negatively affects associations.

--charles gallatin